

CMCL Bulletin No 11

It looks a bit wintry at the moment, but rather pretty too! It will soon be Spring, though, and we are starting to think about various gardening and maintenance issues. One of these concerns the flower tubs, which are dotted around the village, with most near the post box.

In the past, these have been planted out and tended by green fingered residents, with all costs of the tubs, plants, compost etc being covered by CMCL. But when the last helpers left the village, no one came forward to take over, and the tubs have deteriorated. Some of them are so dilapidated that they need to be removed. The others will soon follow.

We are happy to replace some of the tubs, but it only seems sensible to do this if there are residents willing to take them on, organise plants, and keep them looking nice. Please let us know if you would like to help with this, and we will make the necessary arrangements.

With best wishes
